Beluga Gold Line – an integral part of gastronomy

Beluga Gold Line has limited distribution, in which every bottle has its own serial number. Harmonious and solemnly noble is this vodka – the result of the persistent artistic endeavours of our technologists, samplers and blend masters.

All ingredients in Beluga Gold Line – including water from the purest Siberian Artesian sources and Beluga’s trademark malt spirit – undergo filtration five times. After all Beluga Gold Line takes “rest” for 90 days. Lactose, essence of rice and extract of Rhodiola rosea soften the taste, enabling the drinker to sense the product’s very deepest and finest, barely perceptible gustatory shades.

Yet another special feature of Beluga Gold Line is its unique cork “Camus”, created with ecologically clean materials and stopped with sealing wax. Every bottle is accompanied by a special, stylish and convenient little hammer for cleaning the sealing wax.

Beluga Gold Line is the embodiment of luxury and solemnity. In all restaurants where Beluga Gold Line is sold, there is an exclusive ceremony when serving of the drink. This usually takes three parts: Presentation, Opening and the actual Serving. This ritual underlines the noble heritage of Beluga Gold Line.

Beluga Gold Line enjoys the highest authority in the world of high gastronomy. As such, the legendary Russian chef Anatoly Komm – the only Russian chef to be included in the top list of the prestigious S. Pellegrino directory – has made a gourmet set for Beluga Gold Line, harmoniously complementing the mature taste of Beluga Gold Line.

Beluga Gold Line is a unique product, created in the most ecologically clean region of Russia, in Siberia, on the foundation of exceptionally natural ingredients and the cleanest artesian water. Born in Siberia, Beluga Gold Line has triumphed in the global alcohol market and become an international symbol of quality and luxury.
